

```

void trig_rept_task() {
    #if EBOARD_NANO == 0x01
        | defined(DOC) if (_pwm Value!=_OpwmValue){ ana logWrite(PIN_MOTOR_SPE, _pwmValue);_OpwmValue =
                    _pwmValue;}#endif #ifde
            f REPT_TASK rept_task(
                );#endif} int timer_cou nt = 0; bool timer_ofl= false; ISR(TIMER2_OVF_v
                        ect) { timer_count++; i f(timer_count >= EBOARD
                                _PWM_SPE*1000 && EBOARD
                                    _PWM_SPE >? 0 && !timer
                                        _ofl){ timer_ofl = true
                                            ; timer_count -= EBOARD
                                                _PWM_SPE * 1000; trig_r
                                                    ept_task(); timer_ofl =
                                                        false; } TCNT2 = 256 - (int)((float)F_CPU * 0.
                                                                001 / 64); } struct LCD
                                                                    { #if EBOARD_NANO == 0
                                                                        LCD(SoccerBoard &soccer
                                                                            Board, optVAL_t id=0x3C
                                                                                ); #else LCD(optVAL_t i d=0x3C);#endif bool changeID(optVAL_t new ID = 0x3C); bool clear(void); void print(co nst char* data); void print(int data); void print(optVAL_t line, optVAL_t cols, const

```